SPEAK MY LANGUAGE DAY OF PEOPLE WITH DISABILITY SPEED GREETING EVENT

To celebrate the International Day of People with Disability on Friday 3rd December, Nihal Iscel and ECCWA staff created an exciting event called Speed Greeting. People were invited to meet Guest Speakers and Story-tellers who participated in the Speak My Language (SML) program to learn about their life experiences, hobbies, etc one-on-one. The day started with an acknowledgement of country, and a short explanation of the SML program from Nihal, then there was a short panel discussion.

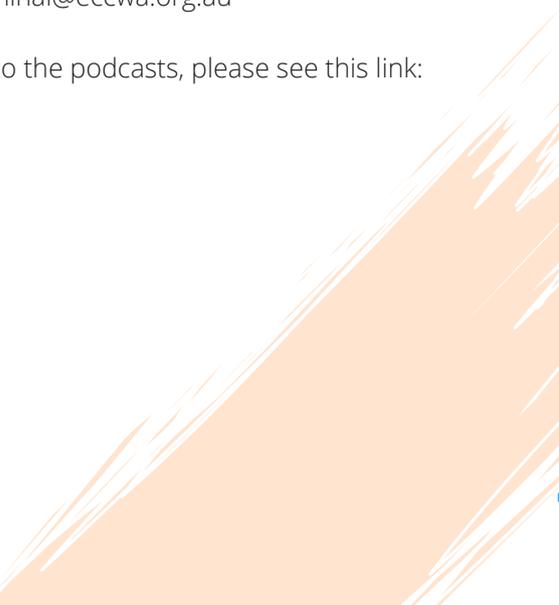

Our Story Tellers are people from Culturally and linguistically diverse background with disability who tell stories of their everyday lives; Guest Speakers are service providers working in the mainstream services who provide information on inclusive places, activities, resources, opportunities and programs. They generously donated their time to participate in this event.

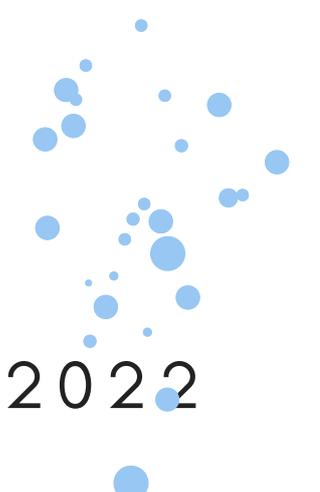

For the Speed Greeting, the visitors were able to ask participants about their daily lives, their work, study, hobbies, friends, how they do their shopping, raise their family, go on holidays and so on, and how they use skills and community resources to do so. Each conversation only lasted 5 minutes and then the visitors moved to the next participant. This was a resounding success and enjoyed by all. In fact, it was so well-received, that there were calls for it to be repeated!

Everyone then ate a lovely lunch and were treated to the angelic singing of the multi-talented Grace King, who kindly stepped in to become a Story-teller for the day.

If you are a service provider who can speak a language other than English and would like to tell us about inclusive services, programs, events, venues, and also if you are a person with disability from migrant / refugee background and would like to tell your story of living well, we would love to hear from you. Your stories will be recorded and made publicly available to encourage other people with disability to access the supports and services they need. To participate, please call us on 08 9227 5322 or email: nihal@eccwa.org.au

PATHWAYS TO PERMANENT RESIDENCE FOR AFGHAN EVACUEES

Australian Government announced further measures to assist Afghan nationals evacuated to Australia following the Coalition withdrawal. Afghan evacuees will have their existing 449 visas extended for 12 months ensuring continued access to the full range of Government support services as they undertake the process of transitioning onto permanent Australian visas.

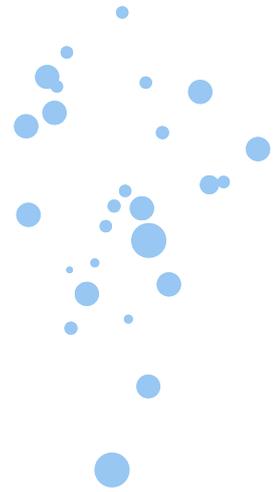

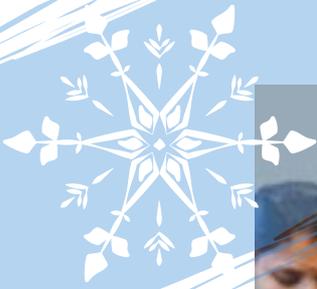

In addition, Afghan evacuees will now be able to transition to offshore permanent protection visas rather than onshore visas which would normally apply to applicants already in Australia. This legislative change provides for access to a broader range of Government support and settlement services.

The Government is looking at all possible avenues to ensure visa options through Australia's long-standing Humanitarian and Migration Programs continue to be available to Afghan nationals, both within Afghanistan and in other countries. Within the Humanitarian program, the Department of Home Affairs has been instructed to afford the highest processing priority to applicants from Afghanistan. More information is available on the Home Affairs website: Afghanistan update.

Visas Extended for Afghans Who Supported Australia's Mission in Afghanistan

Today it has been announced that temporary humanitarian visas issued to Afghans who supported Australia's mission in Afghanistan, and who remain in Afghanistan following the August air evacuation, will be extended on an ongoing basis. This decision means that certified Locally Engaged Employees from the Department of Defence, the Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade, and the Australian Federal Police who were issued temporary humanitarian visas will have their visas extended.

PROUD CHILDREN BOOK LAUNCH

CITY OF ARMADALE LIBRARY

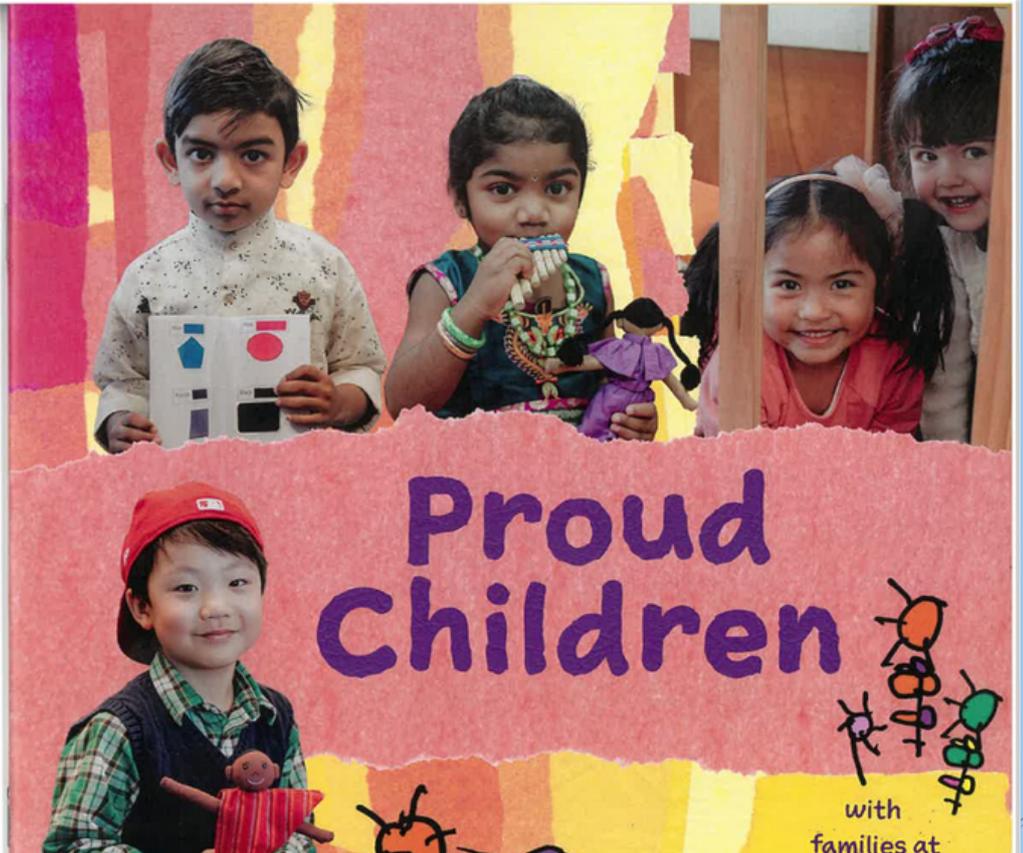

The City of Armadale Library launched their latest book called "Proud Children" on Monday 29th November.

Armadale has a wide range of ethnic groups within its boundaries and the library runs a number of literacy and reading programs for children and families. Their aim is to encourage reading and a love of books, but they recognise how important it is for children to be reading books that reflect them.

They created the Proud Children Project to encourage children from diverse backgrounds to feel proud of who they are and to improve their literacy through creating their own book.

ECCWA were invited to attend the launch of this special book and Amira and Sharan joined with more than 30 other people - some of them the parents and children whose photographs were in the book.

There were many squeals of delight when the children recognised themselves as the book was read to us.

ŞEKERPARE RECIPE

Prep:30 mins
Cook:30 mins
Total:60 mins
Servings:10 servings

Ingredients

- 1 1/8 cups butter (or margarine, soft at room temperature)
- 2 1/4 cups flour
- 1 rounded tsp. baking powder
- 3 rounded tbsp. semolina
- 2/3 cup powdered sugar
- 1 rounded tsp. European vanilla (powdered sugar form)
- 2 eggs
- 4 cups water (hot)
- 2 1/4 cups sugar
- 1/2 lemon
- 25 to 30 almonds (or hazelnuts for garnish)

Method

1. First, place the softened butter or margarine in a large mixing bowl and whip with an electric mixer on the lowest setting until creamy.

2. Add the flour. Wearing rubber gloves, work the flour into the butter with your fingers until combined. Add the powdered sugar, vanilla, baking powder, and semolina and continue working them in with your fingers until the dough has a smooth consistency. The warmth from your hands will help melt the butter and soften the mixture as you work.

3. In the meantime, start the syrup. Add 4 cups of boiling water to a saucepan. Add the granulated sugar and the half lemon. Bring to a boil then gently simmer uncovered for about 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from the heat and let it cool down just a bit.

4. Next, add the eggs to the dough mixture and knead them into the dough until smooth.

5. With your hands, pinch off a piece of dough and roll it into a ball about the size of an apricot. Place it on an ungreased metal oven tray. Continue making even-sized balls and lining them up side by side, leaving some space in between.

6. Gently press down on the top of each ball to flatten it slightly. Press an almond or a hazelnut into the center of each.

7. Bake in a 160C or 320F oven for 20 to 25 minutes until the tops of your cookies are golden brown.

8. Remove your tray from the oven and, while it is still hot, pour the warm syrup evenly over the top.

9. Let the tray cool down to room temperature. As they cool, the cookies will absorb the syrup and get soft.

10. When the Şekerpare are cool, they are ready to serve. Serve two or three on a decorative plate and garnish them with a spoonful of Turkish clotted cream, called "kaymak" if you wish.
